

If you experience a drop in household pressure check these gauges. A large pressure drop (compared to new) will indicate the sediment filter is clogged and should be replaced.